The 15-month IE Brown Executive MBA has five face-to-face periods, amounting to approximately 8.5 weeks in total. The face-to-face periods take place at IE Business School’s campus in Madrid, Spain; Brown University’s campus in Providence, Rhode Island; as well as in Cape Town, South Africa. Outside of these sessions, program participants will have the opportunity to continue learning through interactive virtual modules led by faculty.

The module in South Africa is an immersion experience designed to allow students to experience the “beyond business” focus of the program in a real-world setting. Throughout the week in Cape Town, program participants are encouraged to apply the knowledge acquired in previous classroom and online sessions. This enriching on-site experience—in which new opportunities are proposed, explored and developed—is intensified by the dynamic cultural, political and human elements within the local context.

*Online learning periods occur between each face-to-face module, ensuring continuous learning and interaction between classmates throughout the duration of the program.
